Dear Sirs:

I have just been looking over a copy of your magazine "What's going on", and I find that in the most interesting section devoted to places of interest, there is no mention made of the Musuem of The American Numismatic Society, which is located at One Hundred and Fifty Sixth Street, West of Broadway, adjoining the building of The Hispanic Society of America. This is a free public museum and library relating to numismatics and contains large and interesting collections of coins and medals of all periods and of all countries. It is opened to the public every day from ten to five. Sundays, one to five. Special exhibitions are occassonally held.

Trusting that some mention of this may be made in your most valuable magazine, I am,

Very truly yours,
